April 29th 2020 – Using e-books to support learning from home

Authoritative ebooks at your fingertips.

Advanced Search Browse Subjects

Outcomes

- Overview of how e-books can be used to support learning from home
- Overview of Virtual Library
- Q&A
- Opportunity to share best practice

Benefits of using e-books

There's no better time to get to grips with e-books

- Read online
- Print and download key chapters
- More accessible than their print equivalents
- Search within the text for keyword/s
- Access e-books from your mobile devices
- Cannot be lost or stolen
- No overdue fines

Unlimited access

Take advantage of unrestricted access

- Unlimited access means that learners don't need to wait until someone else has finished with the book
- Learners don't have to join a long reserve list
- Ideal for collaborating with peers whilst learning from home
- ProQuest upgrading all licences purchased during COVID-19 to unlimited licences:
 - <https://www.proquest.com/blog/pqblog/2020/Coronavirus-Impacted-Libraries-Get-Unlimited-Access-to-Ebook-Central.html>
 - Participating publishers:
 - <https://media2.proquest.com/documents/unlimited-access-ebookholdings.pdf>

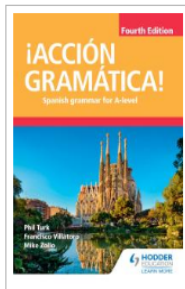

Download chapters and titles

Save key chapters to your device

- Download the e-books or key chapters to access anywhere, anytime, offline
- Especially useful for learning from home
- Learners can see how much of the book they are able to copy and download by clicking on the book details.
- This will be different for each learner, as users have a given allocation for each unique title.

Deep engagement through annotations

Highlight, annotate and bookmark e-books

The screenshot displays the ProQuest Ebook Central interface. The top navigation bar includes 'Home', 'Search', 'Bookshelf', 'Settings', and 'Sign Out'. The main toolbar contains icons for various actions like print, copy, and search. The left sidebar shows the 'ANNOTATIONS' panel for the book 'Colour Coding for Learners with Autism', listing chapters and pages with their respective annotation counts. The main content area shows the text of the book with several annotations: a blue highlight on the word 'AUTISM' (annotated with '3'), a blue highlight on the word 'love' (annotated with '5'), a blue highlight on the sentence 'They may also hate the noise, the change in routine and the fact that they cannot see where the fireworks are coming from.' (annotated with '2' and '4'), a yellow highlight on the paragraph 'Darkness and light, and day and night happen. We can control the lights in the house, but not the sun, moon and stars. It gets darker and quieter at night. People sleep. The curtains are closed. We bath, we go to bed.' (annotated with '6'), and a yellow highlight on the paragraph 'Some children find it difficult to stay outside and watch fireworks. Their fear is real. However, we cannot stop fireworks going off at night. They are something so many people enjoy. Fireworks are no longer restricted to once a year. People seem to need little excuse to light up the night sky with a big bang. There are fireworks at weddings, birthdays, New Year, Christmas,' (annotated with '1'). A blue bookmark is visible on the right side of the page.
